Vancouver Python Day Documentation

Release 2.0

Andy McKay, Bryan Chow

April 19, 2016

The Vancouver Python User Group and the Vancouver Django Meetup Group are pleased to present Vancouver Python Day, a one-day mini conference on all things Python.

When

Saturday September 12, 2015

9:30AM - 4:00PM

Where

Mobify Vancouver

#300 - 948 Homer St, Vancouver, BC

Vancouver Python Day would not have been possible without our awesome sponsors! Please check them out at more about our sponsors.

Vancouver Python Day is a not-for-profit event run by volunteers. All sponsor-provided funds are applied towards event expenses.

Event Recap

Vancouver Python Day 2015 was a success! Thank you to all of our speakers, sponsors and attendees for making this an awesome event. Here's a recap of the day's talks.

Keynote: The State of Mobile Python
Russell Keith-Magee (@freakboy3742), Django Software Foundation
Slides: https://speakerdeck.com/freakboy3742/...

Socializing and Networking for Awkward Humans
Carly Slater (@carlyslater)

Spreading Python Skills to the Scientific Community
Bill Mills (@billdoesphysics), Mozilla Science Lab
Slides: http://billmills.github.io/scienceXpython/

Using the Python Data Toolkit: A Live Demo!
Tiffany Timbers (@tiffanytimbers)
Presentation materials: https://github.com/ttimbers/VanPy_2015

Interesting New Features in Python 3.5
Brett Cannon (@brettsky), Microsoft
Slides: https://speakerdeck.com/brettcannon/...

Algorithmic Trading in Python
Simon Thornington
Slides: https://www.dropbox.com/...

We also enjoyed a memorable set of Lightning Talks:

Porting to Python 3
Brett Cannon

Grinding for Data
Jason Brackman

"Realtime" Evented Django

Marc Sibson

Transforming Classical Music and Opera with Python

Jim DeLaHunt

Sciencey Things I've Done in Python

Jordan Dawe

Making Python Pretty

Michele Bannister

Contact

Vancouver Python Day is organized by John Boxall, Sebastian Vetter, Louie Dinh, Andy McKay, and Bryan Chow. You can reach us at vanpyday at gmail. You can also find us at VanPy and DjangoVan meetups, held monthly.

Past Events

Vancouver Python Day 2015
Vancouver Python Day 2013